HISTORICAL NOTE

A working sugar plantation, Acadia Plantation is comprised of three major properties originally known as Acadia Plantation, St. Brigitte Plantation, and Evergreen Plantation. Acadia Plantation is located in Lafourche Parish, Evergreen Plantation in Terrebonne Parish, and St. Brigitte is partially located in Lafourche and Terrebonne Parishes.

The three plantations are consolidated farms which were assembled throughout the 19th and early part of the 20th centuries. Acadia Plantation was acquired in 1875 by Edward J. Gay through a sheriff's sale. It remained in the hands of his descendants, the Platers. St. Brigitte and Evergreen Plantations were added by direct purchase in 1903 and 1911, respectively.

All three properties were owned by well-known persons at one point or another. St. Brigitte Plantation was owned during portions of the 19th century by the family of Henry Schuyler Thibodaux, founder of the town of Thibodaux. Evergreen Plantation was owned by the family of Richard Ellis, the father-in-law of Confederate General Braxton Bragg who was also influential in state politics. Acadia Plantation and portions of St. Brigitte Plantation were owned by the Bowie family, whose members included Jim Bowie who died at the Alamo; by Philip Barton Key, a nephew of Francis Scott Key; by John Nelson and Andrew J. Donelson, of a well-known Nashville, Tennessee Family; and by Edward J. Gay, who served Louisiana in the United States Congress in the 1880s and who was a prominent Louisiana businessman and sugar cane planter; and Andrew Price, Gay's son-in-law, who also served in Congress in the late 1880s and 1890s.

The present Acadia Plantation residence is comprised of several old Creole cottages which were joined and remodeled in 1890 to become the stately residence of Representative Andrew and Mrs. Anna Gay Price.

Anna Gay Butler Plater, the favorite niece of Anna Gay Price, inherited the plantation after Mrs. Price's death in 1939. The plantation was concurrently inherited by Anna's husband Richard C. Plater, Sr., as well as their children, Richard C. Plater Jr. and Louise Plater Hale.

The Acadia property has primarily been cultivated for sugar cane agriculture, although there are extensive woodlands and farm scattered about the property. Over the years the Plater family leased plots of Acadia land to tenants for such crop production as sugar cane and corn. In the 1940s, Acadia Subdivision was created from plantation lands, and part of the property was sold to the state of Louisiana for a junior college, Nicholls State, which ultimately became a four-year college and then a university.

Of great economic benefit to the plantation and its owners was the discovery of oil and gas on their land in the 1950s. This provided a supplement to the family income, and at times oil and gas royalties and lease rentals greatly exceeded income from the farm and any real estate activities.

In 1958, Richard (Dick) C. Plater, Jr. made a partial divestment of his ownership by sale to Ormonde and David Plater, his sons. Louise Plater Hale also made a donation of portions of her half ownership to her husband, R. Walter Hale, Jr., and to three trusts established for their children and guided by their attorney, Reber Boulton. Richard C. Plater, Jr., assisted frequently by Walter Hale and Reber Boulton, and ultimately by Ormonde Plater and David Plater, carried on the decision making for the plantation until about 1973.

In the early 1960s the plantation owners received on a credit sale a subdivision known as Belle Meade, and completed the sales of lots. Later, large land sales were made for the establishment of Acadia Woods Subdivision, carved out of the Devil Swamp to the rear of the old quarters. In the late 1960s land was donated for a public hospital in Thibodaux, located behind Nicholls State University, and for street servitudes to reach these public facilities.

In the early 1970s, David Plater moved from New Orleans to assist in plantation administration. Ownership began to change from the original members of the Plater-Hale families, and by the mid-1970s an administrative committee was formed for implementing decision making, consisting of Ormonde and David Plater and R. Walter Hale, III. Richard C. Plater, Jr., gradually divested his ownership to his sons and to trusts established for their children and wives, and the Plater ownership was subsequently represented by the Plater Corp. (circa 1973-1986), Plater-Acadia Limited Partnership (circa 1987-1997), and Plater-Acadia, L.L.C. (Limited Liability Corporation, 1997-2003). The Hale ownership, after the deaths of Louise Plater Hale and R. Walter Hale, Jr., and the termination of the trusts, was split among their children, Nancy Hale Hoyt, R. Walter Hale, III, and Vianda Hale Hill, whose interests were represented respectively by the L.L.C.'s Hoyt Acadia, Hale Acadia, and Hill Acadia.

The plantation experienced further consolidation of farms in the 1970s and 1980s. There also was a growing sense of insecurity, originating in the boom and bust times of 1973-1976, concerning the future of sugar cane as a crop. The plantation attempted to diversify its economic base, improving and renting out former farm tenant or laborer houses, renting stables and baling hay for horses, establishing a peach orchard, and taking advantage of an oil boom in the early 1980s to secure long term arrangements on pipelines and gas plant sites. That oil boom, the first since the mid-1960s, lasted just long enough for the plantation to benefit from the drilling of several wells, of which one or two were long-lived and profitable.

During the 1990s, there were several economic trends of interest to the plantation owners. One was the resumption of residential construction activity in the area after a long recession in the 1980s. Another was the expansion of medical facilities at the Thibodaux Regional Hospital and the recruitment of dozens of new doctors. A third was the pick-up of oil and gas activity offshore, accompanied by a large retooling of the offshore supply and fabricating industries across the gulf coast of Louisiana, particularly from Morgan City to New Orleans and at Fourchon at the mouth of Bayou Lafourche. Finally, there was a growing consolidation of sugar cane farms and milling facilities and continued political uncertainty about the competition for the domestic sugar market from foreign sources.

In the mid-1990s, several plantation owners and other interested parties (not involved in ownership) formed a limited liability company to acquire land tracts from Acadia Plantation to develop business subdivisions. The hope was to take advantage of the market in the area of the hospital and possibly for university-related research. The plantation was attempting to fashion a land use plan, and the city of Thibodaux showed interest in incorporating an area from Nicholls east and including the adjoining Bayou Country Club; it had already accomplished some incorporation recently of farm and wood lands across from Thibodaux Regional Hospital and down through the Acadia Woods subdivisions.

Acadia Plantation was sold by the Plater and Hale descendants in October 2003.

Issues addressed in this series relate to: St. Brigitte Plantation titles, a notecase belonging to W.H. Price, Sale of St. Brigitte Plantation to Andrew Price, Lafourche Parish Right of Way, St. Brigitte and Coteau Plantations, and a Water Works District Right of Way.

The majority of folders within the series are original Acadia Plantation title agreements. Most of the title agreements deal with the Price family, specifically Henry and Andrew Price. Also included are warrants, papers, and letters which accompany the title agreements. The folder preceding these items contains an index. An envelope containing an "agreement of option to Louisiana State University for Junior College," as listed on the index, is not located here.

The corresponding plats, due to their size, have been removed from the documents to which they were attached and have been re-housed in an oversize location, arranged chronologically. It is indicated within the papers when an item has been removed. See the container list for stack locations for oversized materials.

Subseries 2: Legal Abstracts, 1803-2003 (5 linear ft.)

The legal abstracts commissioned by Richard C. Plater, Jr. of Acadia Plantation are arranged chronologically within numbered groups. The groups are supplemented by additional abstract material that was added at a later date. Folders are labeled by a group number and date of contents. Folder contents are reproductions or recordings of legal documents. The abstracts themselves are compilations of these documents. Therefore, the dates recorded on folders refer to the creation date of the original legal document rather than the date that the abstract itself was compiled.

The legal abstracts sub-series consists of documents that record legal matters concerned with or related to Acadia Plantation. These include acts of sale/lease of land; oil, gas, and mineral leases; donations; right-of-way servitudes; assignments; power of attorney appointments; partnership agreements; timber sales; successions; trust agreements; and releases, ratifications, amendments and cancellations of the above.

This sub-series also includes an abstract of Evergreen Plantation and documents related to the Dugas-Plater front line dispute of the early 1950s.

The Dugas-Plater front line dispute arose when Richard C. Plater, Jr. and Henry Dugas argued over land ownership. They needed to draw a single straight line parallel to Bayou Lafourche and the 40-arpent line dividing the property fairly. These documents include a plat that illustrates the line dispute.

Several people and organizations were heavily involved with Acadia Plantation. Some of these people include the Plater, Gay, Butler, and Price families; the Robichaux (or Robicho) family; Dominique Badeaux; the Donelson family; the Authement family; the d'Antin (or Dantin) family; Reber Boulton; and the Thibodaux family. Some of the companies include Exxon, Louisiana Power and Light, Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., Humble Oil & Refining Co., New Orleans Canal & Banking Company; Morgan's Louisiana &

Texas Railroad & Steamship Company; New Orleans, Opelousas, & Great Western Railroad Company; Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company; Southern Pacific Company; The Louisiana Land & Exploration Company; Louisiana Department of Conservation; Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp.; Nicklos Oil & Gas Co.; Entex, Inc.; City of Thibodaux; Entergy Louisiana, Inc.; and Shell Oil Co. The Platers are sometimes represented by different titles, such as Plater Family, Acadia Plantation, Plater-Acadia, L.L.C., and Plater-Acadia Limited Partnership.

The abstract volumes, which are typed copies of original documents, were created by the abstracting firm whenever Plater requested them, and cover the dates 1809-2003.

Oversized maps, plats, and other Land Office data, due to their size, have been removed from the papers and housed in an oversize location, arranged chronologically by the dates with which they are labeled. It is indicated within the papers when an item has been removed. See the container list for stack locations of oversized materials.

The legal abstracts sub-series is described to the item level in the abstract indexes, transcribed in Appendix I.

Subseries 3. Pugh, Lanier & Pugh, 1809-1985 (3 linear feet, 1 manuscript volume)

The law firm of Pugh, Lanier, & Pugh served as legal counsel for the Platers, and this series is comprised of the firm's records relating to Acadia Plantation. Arranged chronologically, the series includes varied legal documents, correspondence, plats, and volumes. Most folders have been labeled with the original file names used by the law firm. This was done when re-housing documents in order to maintain the provenance of the papers within this series. However, anything relocated within the series was done so for matters of clarity and does not detract from the integrity of the firm's files.

Correspondence mainly occurs between the law firm and Plater family members, primarily Richard C. Plater Jr., and regards all legal issues with the plantation, its operations, and leasing of land and mineral rights. Legal documents consist largely of donations inter vivos, restrictive covenants, petitions to execute an act of sale, servitude agreements, right-of-way agreements, cash sales, and contracts of lease. Included in the series are letter books that contain miscellaneous items; indexes were provided for some of the books.

Specific topics addressed throughout the series include: the Dugas boundary, Orkin, Authement Option Matter, Terre Waterworks, Audobon Properties, Shell Oil, Augen Company, Lafouche Association for Retarded Children, Sherman Bernard Matter, Bradco Matter, Exxon Matter, LeBlanc Bros. The corresponding plats, due to their size, have been removed from the documents to which they were attached and have been re-housed in oversized folders, arranged chronologically. It is indicated within the papers when an item has been removed. See the Container List for stack locations.

Also see list of oversized material from this series in Appendix C.

Audubon Properties Dispute, 1973-1977

David Plater documents the agreements and discussions with Troy W. Thomson, Jr. and John R. Chadwick about the 5-acre triangular tract adjacent to Audubon Properties. It appears that Thompson bought the land in 1973 and in 1975 was making plans to develop the land into Audubon Apartments (Thompson Construction Co., Inc. is based out of Thibodaux, La.). Issues arose between Thompson and Plater over water, sewerage, and restrictions of the land. Included are letters from David Plater to John F. Pugh, Sr. (attorney for Acadia Plantation) about these matters.

Included within the folders are documents and revisions of documents relating to resolutions, liquidated damages agreement, cash sale agreement, and correspondence from David Plater to his attorney Ewell P. Walther, Jr. from Stone, Pigman, Walther, Wittman, & Hutchinson Law Office. Memoranda are also included.

These six files discuss plans for Acadia Plantation, including general plans for developing shopping centers, Thibodaux General Hospital, Nicholls State University, residential areas, Country Club Estates, Bowie Park, and future residential developments including street and lot layouts. These plans seem to be a projection of what can be done with the Acadia Plantation land now that it is no longer in the Plater Family and may no longer be a profitable farm.

Letters to and from Partners, 1955-1991

Nine files containing correspondence between Richard C. Plater and his family, who were part owners of Acadia Plantation at the time. The family members from whom correspondence has been preserved are R. Walter Hale, R. Walter Hale Jr., Louise Plater Hale, Ormonde Plater, R. Walter Hale III, and David D. Plater.

Four files dealing with worker's compensation and the LUBA Self Insurance Fund for worker's compensation at Acadia Plantation. Files include information from LUBA, blank forms, posters, etc.

Plater's LUBA involvement seems to be a sort of preemptive strategy to be educated on worker's compensation in order to avoid claims.

Oil, 1956-1997

Records of the Plater family's oil, gas, and mineral dealings. They consist of leases and correspondence between the Platers and various individuals and oil companies, such as Wylmer Pool, H.L. The files also include information on a Conservation Commission Hearing of March 28, 1961. Included are several files dealing with the geophysical operations of various oil companies.

The leases and business dealings with Dave J. Robichaux (who maintained a working relationship with the Platers for 23 years) are a substantial section of the oil topical files consisting of 11 folders. The first mineral lease between the two entities was executed in 1970.

The oil topical files also include six files discussing the history of petroleum and mineral rights on Acadia Plantation (1933-1962). These files include mineral leases created by Anna Gay Price and Richard C. Plater and executed by the family lawyer (later judge), Emile Godchaux, in the 1930s and 1940s. Also present is correspondence between the Acadia Plantation Platers and the Nashville Prices concerning the family oil dealings.

Files dated (1980-1997) consist of monthly reports, legal documents, and correspondence. All information concerns oil leases or wells with various oil companies. Specific companies include: Entex Energy Operating, Ltd.; Headington Oil Company; Edwin L. Cox, Oil & Gas Producer; and Wainoco Oil & Gas Company, Texas Crude Exploration, Inc., Colt Production Company, Canada Crown Investment Company, Exxon, Pan American Petroleum, Amoco Production Company, Exchange Oil and Gas Company, as well as individuals Wayman A. Folder contains advertisement materials from the pesticide/herbicide company Safer, along with recommendations on how to safely apply pesticides and herbicides.

Plantation Operations – arranged chronologically, 1972-1993

The Plantation Operation files, located in the Topical Files Series, are different from those in the Plantation Management Series. Although they are both arranged chronologically, their subject matter is different regarding the operations that occurred daily at Acadia Plantation.

The Plantation Operations files contain balance sheets for assets, liabilities, and partners' liabilities. They also contain budgets for office supplies, travel expenses, utilities, residence, donations, etc. Letters, memoranda, and income accounts discuss plantation operations such as soil sampling, ditches, taking aerial photographs of property, dirt moving, etc.

Plater Corporation, 1973-2002

The Plater Corporation files consist of correspondence among David D. Plater, Ormonde Plater, and Richard C. Plater, Jr. Various law firms are consulted on legal matters concerning the Plater

Corporation; their correspondence is also included in the Plater Corporation files within this series. Minutes of Plater meetings, memoranda, gifts of debentures of trusts, and other legal documents are also included.

Files of tax bills and receipts gathered into yearly packets.

Real Estate/Real Estate Dealings, 1968-2003

These papers are the records of the Plater Family's (especially Richard C. Plater and David Plater) involvement in various real estate projects. Such projects consist of plans for developing the Acadia Plantation land into subdivisions (Country Club Plantation, Acadia Subdivision) and business complexes (Audubon Unit Business Complex). There are also agreements and leases with Nicklos Oil and Gas Company, D & C Operating, Inc., and Wainoco Oil Corporation. Also included are hunting lease agreements between various hunters and Acadia Plantation, as well as Fairway Drive Tract information.

Three real estate folders deal with the topic of wetlands mitigation. Parts of Acadia Plantation are on wetlands, and the Platers had to apply for permits and improve the wetlands in order to develop them. The topic includes correspondence with the Army Corps of Engineers, Costal Environments, Inc., and legal representation.

Twelve Real Estate folders (1997-2003) deal with the Evergreen West Project, which involved the development of the Evergreen West Subdivision and the individual purchases of several lots.

Servitudes, 1962-2003

A servitude is a right to access which allows a local authority access to a property for inspection or installation of water lines, gas lines, sewerage lines, electricity cables and so on.

Specific servitudes include agreements with Shell Pipeline, Transcontinental GAS Pipeline, Bayou Lafourche Fresh Water District, Lafourche Communications, Inc., and South Central Bell, City of Thibodaux and Louisiana Power and Light.

Servitude files labeled with the title "Servitudes, Right of Way, Roads, Louisiana Couplet Proposal" deal with a proposed master plan for highway development in Thibodaux. These three files document the public reaction to the proposed highway couplet, including David Plater's vehement opposition to the proposition. Files include transcriptions of public meetings held to discuss the proposition and letters written to the Parish Council both supporting and resisting the couplet's construction.

Sugar Act Correspondence, 1968-1969

Letters between Richard C. Plater, Jr. and various politicians, including Russell Long, Henry Kissinger, Allen J. Ellender, and Harry Byrd. The Sugar Act of 1948 and the 1965 amendment set quotas on sugar production in order to maintain the vigor of domestic sugar producers. Richard C. Plater, Jr. felt that the distribution of quota deficits set by the Sugar Act and its amendment should be adjusted in favor of the domestic industry, centered in Louisiana and Florida.

Sugar Cane - Newspaper Clippings, 1969-2003

Newspaper clippings (from Times-Picayune, Wall Street Journal, and the New York Times), magazine clippings, leaflets, and letters about sugar cane. Most articles concern the Louisiana sugar industry and discuss the Sugar Act of 1948, its 1965 amendments (which did not expire until 1971), and how it affected cane growers. Articles discuss price run-ups of sugar and acreage cuts in Louisiana. Also contains material related to tenants working on sugar plantations.

Sugar Cane - Technical Information, 1950-2000

Technical information and recommendations about annual sugar cane production. Two folders contain newspaper clippings, letters, and other documents related to technical information about sugar cane. Subjects include: estimated cost of producing sugarcane; recommendations for control of Johnson-grass and other weeds in Louisiana sugarcane; variety tests, insect pests, and annual fertilizer and soil practices for sugar cane production

Includes letters from the American Sugar Cane League to members about current sugar cane information.

Tenants, General Information, 1943-1979

These files are the records of the tenant farmers on Acadia Plantation land. They contain the names of the tenants, maps and plats of tenant-cultivated lands, records of crop production on each parcel, and leases between tenants and the Plater Family. The files also contain personal information about the tenants (correspondence, newspaper clippings, invitations, etc.). The correspondence between tenants and Richard C. Plater illustrates a tenant-plantation owner relationship of the mid-20th century. Evidence of racial tension is present.

Tenant Leases, 2002-2003

Tenant leases are housed within three folders and include hand-written notes, letters, and legal documents about leases. Some of the information is in regards to the correct legal terms of agricultural leases. Also included is a copy of a farm/tenant lease with changes and revisions. Most correspondence is with a tenant's lawyer named Jess J. Waguespack who is working with David Plater regarding revisions and corrections. Plater also had his attorney, Newman Trowbridge, help make corrections.

Terrebonne Comprehensive Master Plan, 2001-2002

Focus groups were gathered to help develop the Terrebonne Comprehensive Master Plan. The Master Plan is an inventory and projection report tool to be used in developing strategies to accommodate predicted changes in Terrebonne Parish over the next twenty years.

Included are the Master Plan and other deliberations of focus group meetings. These include the Land Use Focus Group and Infrastructure Focus Group. The Land Use Focus Group's function was to "analyze existing land user patterns in the Parish and ways to maintain/improve effective land utilization so as to encourage harmony and compatibility between land uses; to develop a general pattern for the location, distribution, and characteristics of future land use; and, to identify strategies to effect land use goals and objectives throughout the Parish."

Thibodaux – Business, City and Commercial, 1984-1993

Various files labeled "Thibodaux" contain information about Mr. Plater's interaction with several aspects of the city's government and commercial bodies. They deal with topics such as the Chamber of Commerce, the incorporation of the city, Thibodaux Water District Number 1, and include various servitudes.

Thibodaux Medical Plaza Claim, 1973-1979

Thibodaux Medical Plaza was purchased from the Plater family when Richard C. Plater, Jr. was manager of Acadia Plantation. Negotiations were made regarding "restrictions, design, quality of construction, as well as maintenance in regards to the use of the Plaza property," but disputes arose between the two. The file contains letters, memorandum, and legal documents concerning the legal claims made by the Medical Plaza.

Manuscript volume included in this series is: Vol. 30 "Soil Survey, Terrebonne Parish", 1956 edition

Note: Faxed copies of cash sales, covenants, servitudes etc. found on thermal fax paper in the Topical Files Series have not been transcribed because they can be found in the Legal Abstracts Series.

Also see list of oversized material from this series in Appendices E and G.

Series V. Maps, Plats, and Photographs, 1897-2002 (38 oversize folders; 8 rolls)

The maps, plats, and photographs of Acadia Plantation are arranged in original order. This was done in order to maintain the provenance within this series. However, anything relocated within the series was done so for matters of clarity and does not detract from the integrity of the files. Appendices F and H list each map, plat, and photograph by title and date along with their corresponding folder or roll number. Some maps would not fit into oversize folders and therefore had to be rolled.

There are approximately 500 maps, plats, and photographs contained in this series. Included within the series are aerial maps, photographs, and plats of areas around Lafourche Parish relating to Acadia Plantation, including St. Brigitte and Evergreen Plantations. The majority of aerial photographs and maps were used for census, geological surveys, and boundary surveying purposes. There is a great deal of aerial blue-line maps taken of Acadia Plantation over the course of several years for land planning purposes, such as determining right-of-ways. Also within this series are maps depicting layout plans for subdivisions such as Belle Meade, Acadia Woods, and Bowie Park. Some maps were used for land planning purposes which depict sewer, drainage, water-line, and gas-line layouts. Examples of this are the maps relating to Audubon Properties. There are also maps that relate to the Hospital Service District No. 3, the Medical Plaza, and geological surveys. Also interesting to note is a linen map exhibiting part of the boundary line between the parishes of Terrebonne and Lafourche dated from 1897.
